

The Coca-Cola Company

The Coca-Cola Company is the world's largest beverage company and exists to benefit and refresh everyone it touches. Along with Coca-Cola, the world's best-known brand, The Coca-Cola Company markets four of the world's top-five soft drink brands, including Diet Coke, Fanta and Sprite. Our beverage products encompass nearly 400 brands – including noncarbonated beverages such as waters, juices, sports drinks, teas and coffees.

Throughout the world, no other brand is as immediately recognizable as Coca-Cola. With operations in more than 200 countries, a diverse workforce comprised of more than 200 different nationalities, communicating in more than 100 different languages, The Coca-Cola Company is part of the fabric of life in each of the communities we serve throughout the world. It operates as a local business partner, providing quality in the marketplace, enhancing the workplace, preserving the environment and strengthening the community.

Our organization, a reflection of the many countries and cultures in which we do business, strives to be as inclusive as brand Coca-Cola. The more diverse our people and thinking, the more opportunity we have for innovation.

What distinguishes our business from many others – and makes it, perhaps, the most uniquely global, yet local, business in the world – are the independent bottlers who buy the concentrate, locally produce and then deliver our brands to our customers. The Coca-Cola Company's relationship with its bottling partners is a unique source of strength. It is a century-old alliance and a key strength that empowers the execution of our business strategies. We work together with our bottling partners to ensure our concentrates and syrups lead to finished beverages that are produced and distributed to our consumers around the globe with unmatched quality and service.
