AMERICAN MASTERS Woody Guthrie: Ain't Got No Home

PETER FRUMKIN
Producer, director, writer

Peter Frumkin has been making documentaries for 25 years. His work has appeared on PBS, The Discovery Channel, The Learning Channel and Court TV. His films have taken him from Icelandic glaciers to African market places and from Amazon rainforests to Burmese refugee camps. Among his awards and accolades is an Emmy nomination for his work as a producer on the 2004 NOVA film The Most Dangerous Woman in America, the true story of "Typhoid Mary" Mallon. Frumkin lives in Cambridge, MA with his wife and son.
